FRANKLIN'S BIRTH DAY.

Yesterday, (Monday 17th) says the Southern Guardian, was the anniversary of Benjamin Eranklin's Birthday, and was appropriately celebrated by the typographical fraternity in several of the American cities. His name is honorably identified with the profession in this country, and he was not only a great genius and patriot, but a model craftsman. The following anecdote is recorded of

When quite a youth he went to London, en-"Where are you from?," enquired the fore-

"America," was the reply. "Ah." said the foreman, "from Americal

A lad from America seeking work as a prin ter! Well, do you understand the art of printing? Can you set type?" Franklin stepped to one of the cases, and in a very brief space set up the following passage from the first chapter of the Gospel of St. John: "Nathaniel saith unto him, can any good thing come out of Nazareth?-Philip saith unto him, come and see." It was done so quickly, so accurately, and contained a delicate reproof so appropriate and powerful, that at once gave him standing and character with all in the office. FRANKLIN'S EPITAPH. The following is the epitaph of Franklin, written born to his calling, as in the majority of instances, no amount of training will fit a person for such a post, unless he have a natural taste and aptitude for that description of literary labor; for, although many person are able to write "leaders" or "literary articles," for a newspaper, few can be entrusted with its editorial control, few can scent out the libel which lurks in almost every communication, few can distinguish the report intended to please the speaker instead of informing the nation, and the letters written to serve private interests, instead of public ends; still fewer who can tell at a glance the kind of literary or political material which will promote the circulation of the journal -in fact a good editor's great difficulty is not as to what he should put in, but what he should keep out of his columns. Successful editors have not been great authors but men of good common sense, and their good common sense has taught them to write but little themselves, but read, judge, select, dictate, alter, and combine the writings of others .- Chambers' Journal.

O COMPANY, ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA CAPITAL OVER $250,000. AND CONSTANTLY INCREASING. The Charter of this Company offers more favora ble advantages to the farmer and others, than any other Company chartered in the State, by insuring with or without a premium note. If the applicant prefer, he can pay the full amount of the premium in cash, or by effecting a cash insurance for two years, the insured saves one eighth of the amount he would otherwise have to pay; or by becoming a member, and giving a small premium note, the in sured saves nearly one-half of the amount charge. by Stock Companies, when insuring from year to year. This is the advantage resulting from the combination of THE CASH AND MUTUAL PRINCIPLE.

This Company commenced issuing Policies against loss or damage by fire, on the 16th of March, 1854, since which time over five thousand seven hundred persons have insured and becommembers of the Company, and over thirty thou-sand dollars have been paid for losses. Having trebled our business during the past year, we feel grateful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon the Company thus far, and for its flattering propects of future usefulness. The Directors hope and believe, that, by prudence, caution, and a rigid system of economy, they will establish for this Company a reputation for cheapness and safety not surpassed by any Company in the U. States. All differences in settlement of iosses, may be determined by three disinterested arbitrators of the County where such loss happened, to be mutually Preserved Ginger, Currants, Citron-Layer, Va- chosen by the insured and the Company.
